PhD defense of Farah Kanbar on April 5

Farah had submitted her PhD thesis in Dec. 2021. Afterwards it was refereed. Then the faculty of mathematics and computer science were given the time to check everything. All this is now finished, so the only thing left for Farah is to pass her PhD defense on April 5 at 2:30 pm.

Her opponents will be Anja Schlömerkemper, Rony Touma (via Zoom) and myself. - Good luck, Farah!

Lena Baumann was awarded a PhD stipend

Lena Baumann had applied for a stipend for her PhD from the Stiftung der deutschen Wirtschaft. Her application consisted of (among other things) a research plan for her PhD thesis and a description of her social engagements.

She then made it to the second round with a thorough interview. Now she heard that she received the stipend. It will last until the end of March 2025. Congratulations, Lena!
